II

Down by the Railroad Track,
I'd give the world just to go right back;
Down by the Railroad Track,
To that old smoke-covered shack,
When at sixty miles an hour old number ten
came round the curve,
O'Flynn would yell, "You sure can tell that's Casey by his nerve."
But every man had Casey's nerve, Casey's nerve,
Down by the Railroad Track.

III

Down by the Railroad Track,
I'd give the world just to go right back,
Down by the Railroad Track,
To that old smoke-covered shack—
There were SEVEN dozen pretzels that Were laying on the plate,
And when the gang was gathered round,
Sure they knew they'd be ATE,
Oh ev'rything was al-ways ate, al-ways ate,
Down by the Railroad Track.

IV

Down by the Railroad Track,
I'd give the world just to go right back,
I loved that old quartette,
I can hear them singing yet—
Dinty Moore was ONE, the twins were TWO,
The THIRD was Paddy Long,
Sure, I thought there were FOUR of them,
But maybe I was wrong—
Oh ev'rything was one sweet song, all day long,
Down by the Railroad Track.
